Dear Ms. Dortch:

On July 25th 2011, advisors from the Chairman's office, including Edward Lazarus, Zachary Katz, Josh Gottheimer, Sherrese Smith and Amy Levine, met with the following individuals: Andrew Jay Schwartzman of Media Access Project; Gigi Sohn and Harold Feld of Public Knowledge; Mark Cooper of Consumer Federation of America; Madura Wijewardena of the National Urban League; and Jessica González of the National Hispanic Media Coalition.

The parties discussed the priorities of their respective organizations. Specifically:

- Mr. Schwartzman articulated the need to resolve data collection issues connected to the broadcast media ownership proceeding, particularly those pertaining to forms 355 and 323. He also urged action on pending cable issues, including cable ownership and leased access.
- Ms. Sohn discussed 1) acting expeditiously on the AT&T/T-Mobile merger; 2) doing an investigation of Usage Based Billing; and 3) implementing the National Broadband Plan, specifically, USF reform, special access reform and Allvid.
- Mr. Feld talked about 1) spectrum issues; 2) acting on Public Knowledge's text messaging petition; and 3) deciding what to do on program access.
- Mr. Cooper expressed that reforms to inter carrier compensation be targeted to reducing costs for consumers.
- Mr. Wijewardena noted that programs designed to enhance broadband adoption should include cost-cutting as well as digital literacy components. He offered that groups like National Urban League with boots on the ground can help implement these programs in the communities that most need them.
- Ms. González requested that equal employment data collected through form 395 be made publically available in a transparent format, that the FCC focus on bringing more Latinos into its workforce, and that it act upon the National Hispanic Media Coalition's petition for inquiry on hate speech in media. She also handed out the attached one-pager on NHMC's 2011 federal policy priorities.

The above-named parties hereby submit this notice of ex parte communication pursuant to 47 C.F.R. § 1.1206.

Respectfully submitted,

Jessica J. González, Esq.
